THINGS TO SEE IN SIAM

The Royal Grand Palace & Emerald Buddha Temple

This is a ‘must see’ attraction for all visitors to Bangkok. This royal compound embraces a remarkable collection of structures including Wat Phra Kaeo, the temple that houses the famous Emerald Buddha. Built in 1782, the Grand Palace was a royal residence for many generations and is still used for ceremonies and for accommodating Heads of State.

Dress code: Visitors must be properly dressed when entering the grounds of the Grand Palace. Men are required to wear shirts with sleeves and long trousers. Ladies must likewise cover their shoulders and wear full length skirts or dresses. Clothing for men and women may be hired for a nominal fee from the office at the main entrance to the compound.

Opening hours: Daily from 08:30 to 15:30 hrs

Admission fee: THB 500

Location: Na Phra Lan Road, Phra Borom Maha
Ratchawan, Bangkok

Wat Pho

Temple of Reclining Buddha

Wat Pho, situated close to the Grand Palace, is home to the Reclining Buddha. The temple, built during the reign of King Rama I, is considered to be a place of healing and was famous many centuries ago for its pharmacy and as Thailand's first university – both established by King Rama III. Traditional Thai and foot massages are available at the traditional medical school. Expect to pay a premium compared to massage shops elsewhere in the city. The Reclining Buddha measures 45 metres long by 15 metres high. The soles of the feet, inlaid with precious stones, denote the 108 signs of true faith. The statue's long earlobes signify noble birth and the lotus-bud configuration of the hand symbolises purity and beauty.

Opening hours: Daily from 08:30 - 17:00 hrs

Admission: THB 100

Location: 2 Sanamchai road, Pranakorn, Bangkok

Wat Arun Temple of Dawn

Wat Arun dates back to ancient battles between the former Siam and neighbouring Burma. Having fallen to the Burmese, Ayutthaya was reduced to rubble and ashes, but General Taksin and the remaining survivors vowed to march 'until the sun rose again' and to build a temple at that precise location. Wat Arun, the Temple of the Dawn, is that temple and was later the site of a royal palace and a private chapel. This temple steps provide stunning views as the sun sinks over the Chao Praya River. Access is easy by boat to the temple's jetty.

Opening hours: Daily 08:30 - 17:30 hrs

Admission: THB 100

Location: Arun Amarin road, Bangkok

Jim Thompson's House

Museum

Jim Thompson's three decades of dedication to the revival of Thai silk, then a dying art, changed the industry forever. After he disappeared in Malaysia's Cameron Highlands in 1967 but his legacy remains with the Jim Thomson brand synonymous with high quality Thai fabrics. The Jim Thompson House and Museum is a charming complex of six teak houses that contain priceless antiques and works of art. Tours are available in several languages.

Opening hours: Daily from 08:30 - 16:30 hrs

Admission: THB 150

Location: Soi Kasemsan 2, Rama I road, Bangkok

Erawan Shrine

The Erawan Shrine is one of the most popular places of prayer in Bangkok. This Brahman shrine sits proudly at Ratchaprasong, close to the BTS Sky Train network (Chidlom station) and many shopping malls. It's a fascinating experience with the clouds of incense, garlands of flowers and Thai performers displaying traditional dance moves. It was erected to appease works after many problems arose during the constriction of a nearby hotel.

Opening hours: Daily 06:00 - midnight

Location: Corner of Ploenchit and Ratchadamri roads

HAPPENING IN SIAM

Vegetarian Festival 2026

10 - 18 October 2026

Vegetarian Festival 2026, formally known as the Nine Emperor Gods Festival (เทศกาลกินเจ / 九皇勝會), will be held from 10–18 October 2026, beginning from the eve to the ninth day of the ninth month of the Chinese lunar calendar. Widely celebrated all over Thailand, devotees will observe a vegetarian diet over this period as a form of body purification. The Taoist festival was brought into Thailand

Bangkok Vegetarian Festival 2026

The festival is celebrated mainly in Bangkok's Chinatown, Yaowarat. Preparations will start as early as one week before the event, with yellow banners and flags prominently displayed in the area.

Shopping malls in Bangkok will hold food fairs throughout the festival, with vegetarian and vegan dishes available in a variety of international cuisines.

Venue: Yaowarat (China Town)

End of Buddhist Lent (Ok Phansa Day)

26 October 2026

Ok Phansa Day marks the end of the three-month Buddhist Lent period and the traditional end of the rainy season. The final day of Buddhist Lent falls on the full-moon day of the eleventh lunar moon and is known in most parts of Thailand as Awk Phansa, although there are some regional variations. According to Buddhist belief, the day commemorates Buddha's descent back to earth after spending three months in heaven, where he had visited his mother. His return was greeted by his followers with gifts of food, and today Thai Buddhists mark the occasion by visiting temples and making merit. Different regions have their own ways of marking the occasion, but it's common at this time of year to see organised long-boat races.

Robes Offering (Thod Kathin)

For a one-month period following the end of the Rains Retreat, new robes and offerings are made to the monkhood as part of a ceremony known as 'thod kathin.' Throughout Thailand, various thod kathin events and festivities are arranged, whilst in Bangkok, there is a royal ceremony usually held at Wat Arun (Temple of the Dawn).

Ok Phansa is one of the days in the year where there are restrictions in place on alcohol sales.

Venue: All temples nationwide

Festival of Light (Loy Krathong)

25 November 2026

Celebrated nationwide, Loy Krathong is probably Thailand's most beautiful and enchanting festival. The word loy (or loi) means 'to float', whilst krathong refers to the small rafts or baskets used during the festival. Traditionally made from banana leaves or the bark of a banana tree, krathongs usually contain a candle, incense and flowers. The person floating the krathong will often take a small clipping of their hair or fingernail, which is then added to the krathong together with some coins. The candle and incense are then lit and a wish is made before the krathong is placed on the nearest stretch of water. It is believed that the krathong carries away bad luck and signals a fresh start.

The festival has evolved to include music concerts and beauty pageants and is another great excuse for a party. Falling during the school holidays, Loy Krathong is also a family affair, with parents often helping their children to make krathongs.

Venue: The Chao Phraya River is the main focus for celebrations, with bridges and buildings decked out in bright lights for the occasion. Places such as Lumpini Park, with its lake, also draw large crowds.

King Bhumibol Birthday Commemoration Day

5 December 2026

Remembering the Father of the Nation

The fifth of December is a public holiday in Thailand in honour of the late king, His Majesty King Bhumibol Adulyadej. The Thai monarch was born on 5 December, and this date is also celebrated as Father's Day in recognition of a man who was fondly regarded as the 'Father of The Nation'. The formal name of the holiday translates into English as King Bhumibol Adulyadej's Birthday Anniversary. Depending on where you are in Thailand, there may be restrictions on alcohol sales on 5 December.

During his lifetime, the king's birthday on 5 December was a national day of celebration. Provinces throughout Thailand staged special events featuring fireworks, candle-lit ceremonies and music concerts. While commemorative events are likely to be more subdued in the years following the passing of the king, 5 December will remain a day to celebrate the king's life and achievements. In Bangkok, it has been a tradition for Ratchadamnoen Avenue and the area around the Grand Palace to be beautifully illuminated with strings of lights in December, and it is expected that this tradition will continue.

New Year's Eve

31 December 2026

Thailand doesn't just celebrate New Year once; it does so on three separate occasions. Like the rest of the world, 31 December sees parties and fireworks at locations across Thailand as the clock strikes midnight and the New Year is ushered in. However, the New Year festivities don't end there. The Chinese New Year, which usually falls in January or February, is also celebrated by many Thais. Then, in April, there is the most eagerly anticipated holiday of the year: Songkran, the traditional Thai New Year.

Sawasdee Pii Mai: Happy New Year

If you're in Thailand at the end of December, you will hear people wishing each other 'Sawasdee Pii Mai'.

New Year Countdown

Countdown events are hosted at venues across Thailand on New Year's Eve, with the largest, though not necessarily the best, centred on the area outside CentralWorld in Bangkok. The period of 31 December and 1 January is a public holiday in Thailand and coincides with the peak of the high season. This results in increased demand for transport and accommodation, so it is advisable to book in advance. Popular tourist attractions across the country are likely to be busier than usual, with a surge of both domestic tourists and international visitors.

Bangkok Art Biennale 2026 adds new artists to its 'Angels & Mara'

Bangkok loves a contradiction. Shrines sit beside shopping malls, street food rubs shoulders with skincare counters, and the sacred is rarely far from the spectacular. So it feels only right that Bangkok Art Biennale 2026 is leaning into the push and pull of opposites.

The citywide art festival has announced a fresh wave of 27 artists for this year's edition, bringing the total line-up to 42 artists from Thailand and around the world.

The theme is 'Angels & Mara', a broad look at the forces that tug between light and dark, hope and despair, virtue and temptation. In other words, big questions about belief, power and identity, set against some of Bangkok's most recognisable spaces.

Venue: Wat Arun, Wat Pho, Wat Prayurawongsawat, Bangkok Art and Culture Centre, Central World Plaza, Museum Siam, National Museum Bangkok, One Bangkok, Siam Paragon and Silpakorn University Art Centre

Date: 26 October 2026 - 28 February 2027 • Time: 10:00 - 17:00

Art Bangkok

Opening the first chapter of a new international art fair in Bangkok, art bangkok 2026 is hosted by the Thai Galleries Association (TGA) and co-hosted by The Cloud, together with UOB as the Lead Partner for this inaugural edition.

art bangkok brings together Thai and international galleries, artists, collectors, institutions and voices from across the art ecosystem at Siam Paragon. The fair presents a new international platform for contemporary art in Bangkok.

The inaugural edition unfolds across NEX Hall and Art Jewel on floor 5 of Siam Paragon, bringing together gallery presentations and specially curated exhibitions alongside museums and institutions, art care and stewardship, collector communities, talks, programmes and a dedicated VIP experience. Under the inaugural theme ‘The First Chapter’, art bangkok looks at collecting not simply as a transaction, but as the beginning of a relationship – the moment an artwork becomes personally meaningful and the first step towards a lasting culture of living with and supporting art.

Gallery Zone (Ways of Seeing)

The exhibition space features meticulously selected artworks from over 20 leading local and international galleries, showcasing a diverse and outstanding collection from global artists.

Venue: NEX Hall & Art Jewel, Floor 5, Siam Paragon

Date: 7 - 11 October 2026
